Hartwell, secretary of the Middle East Division. Our hearts have been gladdened by the news that the 13th Sabbath Overflow at the end of the first quarter of 1961 was largest in the history of the Seventh-day Adventist; in fact we understand it was nearly $3,000 more than for the same quarter in 1960. This generosity merits thanks!

National Crime Rate Increasing

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy today announced that the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports for 1960 complied under the direction of Director J. Edgar Hoover reveals serious crime last year reached a new alltime high, with an astounding 98 per cent in crease over 1950 while the population increase during this decade was only 18 per cent.

Mr. Hoover's report, based on data submitted by more than 7,700 police agencies, shows that lawbreakers continued its upward surge with 1,861,300 serious crimes of, murder forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault burglary, larceny $50 and over and auto theft reported in 1960, 14 per cent higher than in 1959, or 230,870 more serious crimes than in the prior year.

During 1960 a serious crime was committed every 15 seconds in the United States. A murder, forcible rape or assault to kill occurred every 3 minutes. The FBI report indicates that throughout 1960 there was a murder every 58 minutes, a forcible rape every 34 minutes, and an aggravated assault every 4 minutes.

Crimes against property, Mr. Hoover said, were generally much more frequent. A burglary was perpetrated every 39 seconds, a larceny $50 and over occurred every minute, a car was stolen every 2 minutes, and every 6 minutes witnessed a robbery during 1960.

When these offenses are examined individually, the FBI report indicates that robberies and burglaries were each up 18 per cent in 1960 over 1959. Larcenies over $50 rose 14 per cent, and auto thefts increased 9 per cent. Murders had a sharp 6 per cent rise, aggravated assaults were up 5 per cent and forcible rapes occurred with 3 per cent greater frequency than the previous year.

The FBI reported 3,640 arrests for every 100,000 person in the United States in 1960, with city arrests occurring at almost 3 times the rural rate. Female arrests rose 10 per cent in rural areas while, increasing only 3 per cent in city areas.

Arrests of juveniles have more than doubled since 1950, while the population of youths aged 10 to 17 increased by less than one half. There was one reported arrest for every 26 young persons between ages 10 to 17 in 1960. Last year juvenile arrests occured 8 and 8 per cent more frequently in city and rural areas, respectively than in 1959. In cities, total arrests were up 2 per cent over 1959 with adult arrests registering only a 1 per cent increase while juvenile arrests jumped 9 per cent. City youths, while comprising 14 per cent of all police arrests, were involved in 62 per cent of auto theft arrests 51 per cent of the burglaries, 49 per cent of the larcenies, 28 per cent of the robberies, 20 per cent of the forcible rapes, 12 per cent of the aggravated assaults, and 8 per cent of the arrests for murder.

Arrest statistics indicate that criminality in rural areas, though proportionately less, is very similar to crime experience in cities.

Crime for the past five years, has been rising over four times faster than the population. Since 1950 the crime rate (number of crimes per 100,000 persons) has increased 66 per cent. In 1960 criminal activity reached a peak in November after a low in March.

The exact cost of crime is incalculable, but direct property losses based on police reports, average $256 for every robbery; burglary, $183; larceny, $74; and auto theft, $830. Thieves in 1960 stole loot amounting to over $570,000,000. Effective police work resulted in recovery of 52 per cent of this stolen property. Police in 1960 cleared 71 per cent more cases by arrest and 65 per cent more person were charged than in 1950. Court convictions meanwhile were up 42 per cent.

Director Hoover pointed out that law enforcement agencies handled 15 million violations of traffic and motor vehicle laws, and city police alone issued 31 million parking citations in 1960.

The FBI Director lauded law enforcement agencies for increased efficiecy and expressed profound regret that 1960 witnessed the deaths of 48 police officers killed in the line of duty, 28 at hands of killers.

Rescue Squad Has A $5,000 Budget In View

The Appomattox Rescue Squad met at the local court house Tuesday night. Reports were heard from all committees. Prices on equipment were quoted by Ned Shorter and Jack Caldwell, who had secured bids from local dealers. The finance committee, headed by R. D. Robinson, reported having a meeting and its plan was presented to the members. After hearing the plan, and the prices of equipment, vehicles, etc., a goal of $5,000 was set as the minimum needed for operation.

This would provide Appomattox County with an "Ambiewagon," complete with emergency first aid kit, oxygen, resuscitator, and collapsible stretcher. This unit would be subject to call 24 hours a day for emergency use.

Temporary Captain, Kenneth Jamerson reported plans underway for a 6-week training course in standard and advanced first aid for crew members. The exact date the training will begin will be announced later.

Offers of assistance have been received from several surrounding Rescue Squads, and a few donations have been made. Appomattox Civil Defense Director, John C. Cole, offered to help secure equipment through his office.

The next regularly scheduled meeting will be held at the court house on Tuesday, August 22, at 7:30 P. M. A permanent slate of officers will be elected at this meeting.

For Farmers With Land in Soil Reserve

Farmers with land under conservation reserve contracts are cautioned about compliance with these contracts during the current cropping and grazing season.

The reminder was issued by W. D. Hix, III, chairman of the Appomattox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

He said that contracts call for no grazing or harvesting on acres are designated for the conservation reserve and for planting only within the permitted acreage of soil bank base crops on the farm.

A farm with a conservation reserve contract has a designated acreage of land that has been taken out of production and is now devoted to conservation use. The conservation uses include trees, grasses and legumes, water storage, and plantings beneficial to wildlife. In return for annual payments, the designated land is kept entirely out of production.

Before the planting season started, each farmer with a conservation reserve contract was sent a notice of his permitted acreage in which might be planted in soil bank base crops. These include all small grains, oil seed crops, and most row crops, Mr. Hix explained.

He said failure to comply with one of these three contract obligations is the most frequent cause of loss of the annual conservation reserve payment.
